the top 300 banks last year and 18% of the deposit growth in 1982.

Some of the reasons cited for the surge in mergers over the last two years were the prospect of interstate banking, the increase in competition brought about by deregulation, and changes in banking laws with respect to branching.

One of the effects of the surge in mergers among banks has been to consolidate the industry. The American Banker finds that the top 5,000 banks accounted for approximately 93% of the estimated $1.763 trillion in deposits held by all 14,796 commercial banks in the nation at yearend 1983. A year earlier, the top 5,000 accounted for approximately 90% of the $1.711 trillion in deposits held by all 14,787 banks in the nation.

OTHER SURVEY FINDINGS

Some of the other major findings of the survey are listed below.

• For the second year in a row, New York is the top deposit-taking state in the nation. It was again followed by California, Texas, and Illinois. Among the top 5,000 banks, 125 were headquartered in New York State, and their deposits totaled $380.1 billion on Dec. 31, 1983 — 23% of the total deposits of the top 5,000.

California had 177 banks ranked among the top 5,000, with deposits totaling $221.1 billion — 13.4% of the total deposits of the top 5,000 banks. The 662 banks of Texas had $123.9 billion in deposits, or 7.48% of the total. And the 439 banks of Illinois had deposits of $116.1 billion, or 7% of the total.

• The banks in the top four deposit-taking states — New York, California, Texas, and Illinois — had combined deposits of $841.1 billion, or 50.8% of the total deposits of the 5,000 largest commercial banks in the nation. These banks also accounted for 47.7% of the deposits of all commercial banks in the nation last year. In 1982, these four states accounted for 52.4% of the deposits of the top 5,000 and 47.1% of the deposits of all U.S. banks.

Texas Has Most in Top Group

• Texas, a unit banking state, last year again had the largest number of banks ranked among the top 5,000 in the nation, 662. This is a gain of 39 banks from a year earlier. Texas once more was followed by Illinois, with 439 banks; Florida, with 230; and Pennsylvania, with 207. But Michigan, with 191 banks, supplanted Missouri as the state with the fifth largest number.

• The 5,000th largest bank in the nation was First National Bank, Valley City, N.D., with $43.3 million in deposits on Dec. 31., compared with $39.2 million a year earlier, when it ranked 5,041st. The 5,000th largest in 1982 was Bank San Felipe Green NA, Houston, with $39.4 million in deposits. The bank jumped 1,056 places to 3,944th last year, with deposits of $54 million.

• Among the top 5,000 banks, 2,676 posted gains in rank. The largest gainer was First National State Bank of New Jersey, Totowa. Formerly known as the First National State Bank-Hudson, Bayonne, the bank jumped 7,448 places in rank to 195th after it acquired the $939 million-deposit First National Bank, Totowa, on Sept. 9, 1983. It changed its title and location after the merger.

• The second largest gainer was Merrill Bank NA, Farmington, Me., moving up 6,098 places to 2,405th. It was followed by Commercial National Bank, Alma, Mich., which rose 6,024 places to 2,229th.

• At yearend 1983, 32 commercial banks each had total deposits of $5 billion or more, compared with 30 in 1982; 203 banks each had more than $1 billion in deposits, compared with 186 a year earlier; 389 banks each had more than $500 million in deposits, compared with 341 on Dec. 31, 1982; 890 banks each had $200 million or more in deposits, compared with 791 in the previous year; 1,939 banks each had more than $100 million in deposits, and 4,307 banks had more than $50 million in deposits in 1983, compared with 1,722 and 3,833, respectively, in 1982.

• Deposits of banks by group were: $1,338.1 trillion for the top 1,000 banks; $1,466.5 trillion for the top 2,000 banks; $1,548 trillion for the top 3,000 banks; and $1,608.3 trillion for the top 4,000 banks.

The survey lists banks alphabetically by state. Within a state, banks are listed alphabetically by city. Within each city, banks are listed by the size of deposits. For cities with banks ranked in the top 500 commercial banks, the name of the city appears above the listing of the banks. Each bank's ranking is its nationwide ranking based on deposits at yearend. ■

New Hampshire . . .

Last June, Mr. D'Amours led a successful fight in the House to repeal a 10% withholding tax on interest and dividends that Congress had passed some months before as part of a larger tax package. The banking industry lobbied strongly in favor of the repeal. Mr. Humphrey, usually a staunch supporter of President Reagan, who supported the tax, split with the President by opposing it.

By siding with the banking industry during the withholding battle, Rep. D'Amours came under fire from several Republican senators who sponsored the withholding provision.

An industry lobbyist who wishes not to be identified says the American Bankers Association is indebted to Mr. D'Amours for his withholding tax efforts. The congressman denies he is a best friend of bankers. "I am not on anybody's side," he says. "My record is a balanced one."

$5,000 ABA Contribution

The ABA political action committee, BankPac, has contributed $5,000 to Mr. D'Amours' campaign and none to Sen. Humphrey's reelection effort, according to Federal Election Commission records. And the financial group plans to contribute more money to Mr. D'Amours' effort, according to another industry source.

An ABA official candidly says BankPac is supporting Mr. D'Amours because of his efforts to repeal the withholding tax. The group would have considered supporting Sen. Humphrey had he not joined the Banking Committee only a few months ago, the ABA spokeman says, adding that BankPac supports only one candidate per race.

While Sen. Humphrey, a conservative from a predominantly conservative state, was expected to win handily, a new poll conducted by the University of New Hampshire and WMUR-TV in Manchester shows that the race is "virtually neck and neck." The poll was conducted by an associate professor of political science at the university, Dr. David Moore. It shows Sen. Humphrey with 40% of the vote and Rep. D'Amours with 35%. Dr. Moore stresses that the poll has an error rate of plus or minus 6%, meaning the race could be very close.

Mr. D'Amours attributes his good showing to a growing tide of grassroots support in New Hampshire.

Both candidates have received campaign contributions from other national and state financial political action committees.

Another financial group, the New Hampshire Bankers Association, will meet on May 8 to decide which candidate it will support.

Banking Knowledge Challenged

In a telephone interview, Mr. D'Amours said that if Mr. Humphrey is reelected, the senator would "jump off the [Banking] Committee. He doesn't know his knee from his elbow when it comes to banking matters," the challenger charges.

Sen. Humphrey, who says he is very interested in economic matters, counters that he will stay on the Banking Committee if reelected. "I have solid support among the bankers here [in New Hampshire]," he says. One industry source, meanwhile, summed up both views this way: "I think Sen. Humphrey is an unknown quantity on banking issues at the moment."

Both candidates agree that the government needs to reduce foreign aid. Sen. Humphrey, for instance, has been an outspoken advocate of reducing U.S. support for the International Monetary Fund. He argues that the IMF supports the least creditworthy nations. Instead, the senator argues, Third World countries need to develop better economic policies and American banks need to extend loans already made to those nations.

Here is the way the candidates shape up on several other banking-related issues:

- Both voted for the Garn-St Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982, a comprehensive deregulation package.
- On government subsidies that provide below-market interest rates on mortgages to low- and middle-income families, the candidates differ. Sen. Humphrey generally opposes the provisions, while Mr. D'Amours generally supports them.
- Rep. D'Amours has supported legislation expanding the secondary mortgage market activities of the federal mortgage agencies, including Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. ■

Valley . . .

Nearly all the farms are individual ones; a ban on corporate farming was recently lifted — but only for family corporations, Mr. Bauer said.

The valley in the city's name refers to the Sheyenne River Valley, "one of the prettiest places in North Dakota," said Mr. Plumm. The river winds through the western part of the state, southwest through Valley City, and into the Red River, which then flows northward into Canada, forming the boundary between North Dakota and Minnesota along the way.

There is an 80-bed hospital in town, as well as the Valley City State College, with 1,200 students. The downtown area is thriving — the lone open storefront is currently being filled, Mr. Plumm said — and the townspeople like to think of it as a "full-service family shopping center." Anything that can't be bought there is available 60 miles due east in Fargo.

One block from Main Street and North Central Avenue, the hub of the business district, sits the 55-year-old First National Bank, with its $43.3 million in deposits and $54 million in assets.

'One of Our Poorest Years'

When Mr. Bauer took over as president in 1969, the bank's assets were $13 million. Although the bank moved up in rank from 5,041 to 5,000, "last year was one of our poorest years," Mr. Bauer said. The firm returned 99 cents on assets, compared with a one-time high of $1.60 — "the first decrease in earnings in my 15 years as manager, due mainly to the increase in our loan-loss provision."

The loan-loss provision needed to be boosted because "we're totally dependent on agriculture," Mr. Bauer said, and 1983 was not a good year for farmers. The high cost of production and the low market price of goods "was killing us," he said, speaking from the farmer's perspective. He added that those problems "are going to be with us at least through this fall."

Since its inception, the Valley City bank has been an affiliate of First Bank of Minneapolis, a relationship that has enabled the bank to offer the latest products available.

The bank's deposits come mostly from individuals, and while some customers still prefer the traditional passbook account, "we've seen a dramatic shift into other deposit instruments" since the onset of deregulation, the president said. "With the mobility of deposits today, you have to offer competitive rates."

Like many of the officers in the bank, Mr. Bauer serves on several committees and boards in the community. He is currently a director on the board of a local development corporation that is trying to attract light industry to the city. "We have the economy for them, but we just haven't been able to score," he said.

Light industry, he said, would "allow for seasonal off-farm employment," which would enable farmers to continue to operate profitably.

Mr. Plumm, of the Times-Record, said, "We first thought of attracting a farm-related business, but the farm economy is not growing or expanding, so agribusiness is not diversifying right now." Although several of the Defense Department's missile silos sit in Barnes County, of which Valley City is the county seat, "They're not at the present time part of our economy."

Thus, the city has been trying to attract light industry from Minneapolis or Manitoba, using its lower taxes, workmen's compensation insurance, and licensing fees as a lure, he said. "I'm optimistic we'll have one or two [new businesses] by the end of the year," Mr. Plumm said. ■

Mortgage Servicing Business Draws Entrants

By L. MICHAEL CACACE

NEW YORK — Deposit-taking institutions are busily entering the mortgage servicing business. In this era of deregulation, many of these institutions have had sizable deposit inflows, and mortgage company acquisitions are viewed as a good way to increase loan-production capability.

From a mortgage company's view, it makes sense to join up with a thrift institution or a commercial bank. They are a source of funding and a source of loan production.

The American Banker survey of the top 100 firms in mortgage servicing among commercial banks and mortgage companies, published today, finds that thrift institutions — savings banks and savings and loan associations — led the charge into mortgage servicing.

And from 1983 to the present, seven of the top 100 mortgage servicing firms in the nation have been acquired by thrifts. In addition, two thrifts formed mortgage company subsidiaries that ranked among the top 15 in the country last year. In 1982, the American Banker recorded only two major thrift acquisitions of mortgage companies.

The four mortgage companies acquired by thrifts this year were the

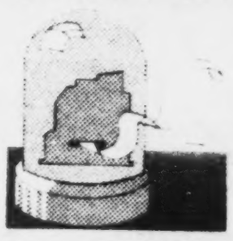
Quick & Reilly to Resume Selling Research Data

By LYNN BRENNER

NEW YORK — Quick & Reilly Inc., one of the first major stock brokers to abandon selling research and to offer execution of trades for a discounted commission, plans to begin offering stock research reports again within the next few months, its president said last week.



Discount Brokerage

"I believe offering research and investment advice is necessary to continue to make the discount brokerage business grow," said Leslie C. Quick Jr., president of Quick & Reilly, which began offering discount service in 1975.

"In a month or two," Quick & Reilly plans to offer research reports for $250 a year to "anybody who wants to buy," Mr. Quick said.

Prospective buyers include Quick & Reilly's retail customers and the bank-operated discounted brokers that clear through its subsidiary, Q&R Clearing Corp.

Quick & Reilly's research will provide "recommendations on a buy range for 8 to 10 stocks we believe will outperform the market," Mr. Quick said, "including quarterly follow-up reports and sell recommendations."

Prudential Eyeing Return To Single-Family Mortgages

By DAVID LaGESSE

NEW YORK — The Prudential Insurance Company of America is considering a return to the business of single-family home finance, company officials say.

"With what's happening in the secondary markets, we really can't afford not to look at it," said William Wendt, vice president of Prudential, the nation's largest life insurance carrier.

Prudential once funded as much as $700 million a year in mortgages as investments and to attract possible insurance customers, Mr. Wendt said.

"But we essentially stopped in 1964," he added.

The industry as a whole changed investment philosophies at that time. Commercial property, particularly through ownership and development, then offered higher returns and without the problems in servicing thousands of small mortgages.

Prudential and other insurers since have largely let the old, fixed-rate loans in their portfolios mature without replacing them.

With the rise of adjustable-rate loans and the entrance of Wall Street, however, Mr. Wendt said the mortgage markets look more attractive again.
